General marking instructions

These notes to examiners are intended only as guidelines to assist marking. They are not offered as an exhaustive and fixed set of features which all answers must include.

Answers which do not follow the approach suggested in the guiding question, but have provided an alternative formal or technical focus should be rewarded appropriately in line with the assessment criteria.

Instructions générales pour la notation

Ces notes ne sont que simples lignes directrices pour aider les examinateurs lors de la notation. Elles ne peuvent en aucun cas être considérées comme un ensemble fixe et exhaustif de caractéristiques que les réponses doivent présenter.

Les réponses qui ne suivent pas l'approche suggérée dans la question d'orientation, mais qui ont adopté un autre angle technique ou formel doivent être récompensées de manière appropriée, conformément aux critères d'évaluation.

Instrucciones generales para la corrección

El objetivo de estas notas para los examinadores es servir de directrices a fin de ayudar en la corrección. No deben considerarse un conjunto fijo y exhaustivo de características que deban estar presentes en todas las respuestas.

Las respuestas que no sigan el enfoque recomendado en la pregunta de orientación, pero posean un enfoque alternativo, de carácter formal o técnico, también deberán ser valoradas de acuerdo con los criterios de evaluación.

Drama – Anna in the Tropics by Nilo Cruz.
Elements of the text significant for analysis
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • overall tension in the relationship between Cheché and the women • a pleasant sense of the positive, artistic tension created by the lector's habit of finishing the day's reading 'when he gets to the good part' in order to create a sense of tension as the workers are left 'in suspense' and 'wanting more' • the women's praise of the lector, who represents a different kind of masculinity to Cheché and Palomo, conveys a sense of his charisma and the power he holds over the workers' imagination, e.g. similes used to praise the lector – 'it's like hearing a bird sing when he reads'...'the fragrance wraps itself around the words like smoke.' • Cheché's antipathy towards the lector – he is dismissive of 'love stories' and appears to remain unmoved e.g. 'I never hear the story the same way that you do..' • the ambiguous presentation of Palomo, who appears to support both camps e.g. 'that's because we are men' and then 'I'd like to hear what you have to say' and 'I like love stories' • the women feel the liberating power of literature and use it as a tool to empower them e.g. 'Only a fool can fail to understand the importance of having a lector read to us while we work' (Ofelia) and 'Some of us cigar workers might not be able to read or write, but we can recite lines from Don Quixote or Jane Eyre' • effect on the characters of listening to the text in a group rather than reading the text for themselves; discussion and tension generated e.g. 'Now they'll sigh and chat about the love story for hours' (Cheché) • sense of cohesion in the group of women 'Mamá you did well in sending for him' (Conchita) and 'Don't pay them any mind' (Conchita) • Cheché is interrupted by Ofelia and his ideas are dismissed 'we're not going to do away with the lector' • Cheché's preference for 'a detective story' is dismissed by Marela 'They're not very literary, Chester' and creates a possible moment of humour and diffusion of some tension (for the audience), noting the impact of the use of his full name • the women create their own imaginative responses to the novel – there is a sense of escapism e.g. 'I see them in a little room.' and more practically, 'There is nothing like reading a winter book in the middle of summer..' – cold vs heat and even prompts thoughts of a literal journey 'I just want to borrow a fur coat from my friend Cookie Salazar and go to Russia' • the power of literature to transform/inspire some of the characters e.g. Conchita, Marela and Ofelia's exchange at the end of the extract - 'Well, I don't know about you...' 'Me too..' and 'He chose the right book..' shows their sense of enjoyment and their ability to be affected by literature • Cheché's dismissal of the women's thoughts at the end of the extract - 'Help me with the boxes' - practicality vs imagination, but noting the fact he removes himself from the tense exchange • ultimately it appears the tension between Cheché's views and the women's views remains unchanged – possibly foreshadowing further tension between them.
